

Analyze this chart to determine how the 3 Reconstruction Plans were alike and how they were different.

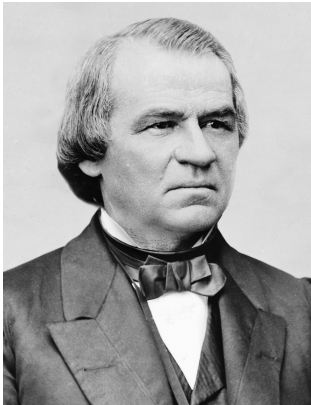

Lincoln's Reconstruction Plan

What happened to Lincoln at the end of the Civil War?

Johnson's Reconstruction Plan

Who was Andrew Johnson?

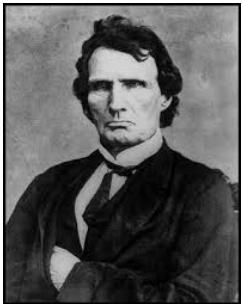

The Radical Republicans' Reconstruction Plan

Who were the Radical Republicans?

Charles Sumner
Who was he?

Thaddeus Stevens
Who was he?

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When 10% of persons who voted in the 1860 election wished to establish a government loyal to the Union, they could rejoin the United States. • Confederate soldiers could have citizenship restored if they took an oath of loyalty to the U.S. • Slavery was abolished. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Former Civil War officers and government officials as well as wealthy southerners would be punished. • Slavery was abolished. However, Johnson did not stop the southern states from adopting laws called Black Codes. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Punish the South. • Help the Freedmen. • Slavery was abolished.

Questions:

Answers:

All three plans agreed with what regarding slavery? ➤
Which plan featured the least amount of punishment for the South? ➤
Which plan featured the greatest amount of punishment for the South? ➤
Which plan revealed the most racism? ➤
Which plan do you think was the best? ➤
Why do you think that plan was the best? ➤

Which plan do you think was the most harmful to our nation? ➤
Why do you think that plan was the most harmful to our nation? ➤	